EDUCATION SYSTEM IN CANADA

Higher education in Canada for Indian students means to be part of the world's most flexible education system. Students can study their area of interest as specialization.

- Types of Institutions to study

Public Universities:
These are state-affiliated institutions which are financially supported by public taxes and are usually large in size. Tuitions fees are usually less compared to private institutions. Examples: Ohio State University, University of California, Kansas State University, etc.

Private Institutions:
A private university runs without the control of any government entity. Tuition fees tend to be much higher than at public universities. Examples: Long Island University, New York University, etc.

Technical Institutes:
These are schools specializing primarily in Engineering and Science and are particularly noted for their research and graduate programs. Examples: M.I.T. (The Massachusetts Institute of Technology), MIT (New York Institutes of Technology), etc.

The Ivy League:
Members of the Ivy League are: Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Brown, Dartmouth, Cornell, Columbia and the University of Pennsylvania. All these schools are in the North-eastern part of the USA. Tuition fees at these private schools are among the highest in the country and admission is highly competitive.competitive.

Small Liberal Arts Colleges:
These schools focus on undergraduate study of traditional Arts and Sciences disciplines: Humanities, Sciences and Social Sciences. Liberal Arts Colleges are often quite old and are usually private schools. Examples: Amherst College, Bates College, Swarthmore College, Manhattan College, Smith College, Mount Holyoke College, etc.

Community Colleges:
Community College is an educational institution providing higher education and lower-level tertiary education, granting Associate degrees, Certificates, Diplomas. Example: Foothill and Deanza College, College of San Mateo, etc.
